

Whitepaper

A clear introduction to a community token

Project overview | September 27, 2026

About the project

BABY COIN (BABY) is a digital token on BNB Smart Chain. Its visual identity is built around a gold coin bearing the year 2026, and the project aims to bring a community together around the BABY COIN name and identity. By itself, the token does not represent equity, a claim, redemption rights, or ownership in a company or asset unless a separate formal document explicitly grants such rights.

Token model and access

BABY is a BEP-20 token transferred on BNB Smart Chain. According to project-provided specifications, the buy, sell, and transfer tax is 0%. The stated total supply is 21 million tokens. Initial allocation, circulating supply, related wallets, and liquidity status should be checked against current on-chain data and project documentation; this paper does not assume values for them.

Roadmap direction

The project's immediate focus is maintaining its basic information and official community communications. Phase 2 of the project is focused on developing the gaming component. This phase is intended to design and develop gaming experiences related to BABY COIN. As of this version, no game or utility product has been announced as released. Feature details, timing, and launch depend on future execution plans and resources.

Transparency and verification

Before interacting, select BNB Smart Chain and compare the contract address with the project's official source and its page on a blockchain explorer. Report contract ownership, changeable functions, liquidity locks, and lock duration only when supported by verifiable on-chain evidence. This whitepaper is not a contract review or a security audit.

Risks and purchase considerations

Token prices can be highly volatile and may lose all market value. The existence of a token, a limited supply, or a zero tax does not guarantee price appreciation, the ability to sell, or profit. Liquidity or an active market may be insufficient or unavailable. Do your own research and make a decision only if you can accept losing the entire amount. This document is not financial advice.
